Voting as a moral obligation

We encourage all citizens. . . to embrace their citizenship not merely as a duty and privilege, but as an opportunity meaningfully to participate in building the culture of life.

“Living the culture of Life,” 34

REFLECTION: Voting is a moral obligation.

In a representative form of government, the obligations Scripture places on kings and rulers belongs to the voters.

The obligation to advance the culture of life by one's vote springs from one's obligation to the good of the nation and to the well-being of all the other citizens who live it.

PRAYER: Lord, give us a deep commitment to participate in the political process.

Fr. Frank Pavone
